

Dissertation handbook: key points

- Dissertations will be presented on Tuesday 4th December from 10am in L6.
- There will be a booklet listing all the proposed projects. This will be on the course webpage after the presentations and you will receive hard copy at the presentations.
- Talk to all the supervisors associated with the projects in which you are interested.
- Tell the supervisors and the course director by Friday of week 1 of Hilary Term which project you would like to do.
- Supervisors will give a response in the following week.
- The dissertation is almost two terms' work — expect to work on it for most of Trinity Term and the Long Vacation.
- You must give a presentation on your dissertation topic on either Monday 3rd or Tuesday 4th June.
- Expect a minimum of one hour of supervision per fortnight in term time and further supervision during the vacation (possibly via email or Skype).
- The submission deadline is Wednesday 4th September at 12noon. Three hard copies of your dissertation should be submitted to Examination Schools by this deadline. You should also submit a pdf via the online submission page (more details nearer the time).
- A complete draft of the dissertation should be given to your supervisor at least two weeks prior to submission.
- Dissertations should be 40–50 pages long and satisfy certain font and page size restrictions.
- Past dissertations can be found on the web at:
<https://www.maths.ox.ac.uk/node/25797>.
- Vivas will be held in mid-September and these are compulsory.
- Results will be available within days of the final Examiners' Meeting (on the final day of the vivas).
